I am much obliged for your notice of the pamphlet to which my name was attached. If it accomplished anything I am amply paid; if not, the consciousness of duties performed toward a community from whom I have received a thousand kindnesses, both in their corporate and indi-vidual sense, is sufficient compensation. OF MEMPHIS.

The efficacy of pamphlets in accomplishing the object to be desired is a question of doubt. The great mass of all countries, as our own, rarely read pamphlets or treatise bearing upon their own local grievances, much less those of strange lands, and the circulation of a million of pamphlets, unless tinged with the ro-mance of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," rarely accomplish anything, and as to the great benefits the immigrant is to realize by section of the United States, depend more
